Quarantine Farm for a certain value, and after doing so were ordered to disinfect their barns according to the usual custom and allowed to start a new herd. And in a great many cases the disease had broken out again, some losing nearly all their herd. The disease is now on farms that had no cattle disease before Dr. McEachren's time. Farmers that are losing their cattle are feeling it a very great loss, as their stock is the greatest part of their income.

We have no reason to suppose that the quarantine system is required: that although contagious to a certain extent, yet cattle may graze on the same pasture and not get infection. From what information your Committee could get on the subject from the people that have lost their cattle by the disease, we are of the opinion that a thorough inspection should be made on the farms that have the cattle disease by some scientific man, and as there are a great many suppositions among the people as to the cause of the cattle disease, that would not be judicious to make mention of in this Report.

Your committee would recommend that a memorial should be addressed by the Warden on behalf of this Council, to the Minister of Agriculture asking him to appoint an Inspector resident within this County, who shall have power to slaughter and experiment on sick cattle which are probably or certainly suffering from the Pictou Cattle Disease, and to authorize the payment to the owners of cattle so slaughtered of two thirds of their market value, and further, suggesting Dr. Chalmers V.S. as a suitable person for this appointment.

And would further recommend that the several Councillors be required to collect statistics as far as possible showing the area over which this disease has extended and as nearly as possible the number of cases which have occurred, and the gross amount of loss which has been sustained by the farmers of Pictou County from this disease.
